

Orthopedics Physician Assistant Opportunity

Marshall Medical Center is seeking a full-time physician assistant with an interest in orthopedics to team up with a well-established orthopedic surgeon specializing in general orthopedics with emphasis in upper extremity surgery and joint replacement surgery.

The position will be a balance of clinical and surgical assisting, in both the inpatient and outpatient setting. Clinic practice will include performing office procedures such as therapeutic injections, casting, fracture reduction, and other procedures, along with managing clinic patients. Our physicians are progressive and make continual improvement and practice enhancement top priorities, and are therefore open to potential expansion of the role of the PA.
